Economics is not mute on this topic. The Sudanese “Lost Boys” initially lived in a temporary camp located closer to the Sudanese border, in the town of Lokichoggio. In June of 1992, the camp was relocated farther south to Kakuma town, where it has remained since. Immigration is the international movement of people into a destination country of which they are not natives or where they do not possess citizenship in order to settle or reside there, especially as permanent residents or naturalized citizens, or to take up employment as a migrant worker or temporarily as a foreign worker.. As for economic effects, research suggests that migration is ...
